

Name: _____

Commas

Commas are used to connect two independent clauses.

Example: I like to eat apples. I don't like to eat oranges.

I like to eat apples, but I don't like to eat oranges.

Directions: Read and connect the sentences using the conjunctives and or but and a comma.

1. He hit the ball far. He didn't run fast enough.

2. She lost her doll. She found it fairly quickly.

3. Dad brought the cooler. Mom carried the grill.

4. I had a hamburger for lunch. I couldn't finish it.

5. The sun had been out all day. The pool was still cold.

6. I studied all week for my test. I passed with a 100!

Commas are used in stories, letters,
songs, poems, signs, scripts, lists,
and many other things.

Name: _____

Commas

Commas are used to connect two independent clauses.

Example: I like to eat apples. I don't like to eat oranges.

I like to eat apples, but I don't like to eat oranges.

Directions: Read and connect the sentences using the conjunctives and or but and a comma.

Answer Key

1. He hit the ball far. He didn't run fast enough.

He hit the ball, but he didn't run fast enough.

2. She lost her doll. She found it fairly quickly.

She lost her doll, but she found it fairly quickly.

3. Dad brought the cooler. Mom carried the grill.

Dad brought the cooler, and mom carried the grill.

4. I had a hamburger for lunch. I couldn't finish it.

I had a hamburger for lunch, but I couldn't finish it.

5. The sun had been out all day. The pool was still cold.

The sun had been out all day, but the pool was still cold.

6. I studied all week for my test. I passed with a 100!

I studied all week for my test, and I passed with a 100!

Commas are used in stories, letters, songs, poems, signs, scripts, lists, and many other things.